Your MBA. Your career. Your future.
This is the W. P. Carey School of Business at Arizona State University.

Our culture of innovation goes beyond the classroom. It’s embodied by our location in the desert southwest — this is a place where wide open spaces meet wide open opportunities.
Dear future Sun Devil,

With the rate of innovation and the expansion of the global economy, the old ways of doing business won’t work. Everything has changed. For some, this is a scary prospect. But at ASU’s W. P. Carey School of Business, we embrace this kind of change. We welcome it. It’s why ASU has been named the nation’s most innovative university four years in a row by U.S. News & World Report. Good is not good enough. And to meet the challenges yet to come, we need leaders who rethink the nature of business, engage the world, and create a better future.

One reason the W. P. Carey Full-time MBA is consistently ranked among the best in the U.S. is our dedication to matching your career goals with the skills and abilities that hiring companies demand. You can see it in the way we design our curriculum, with options that help you zero in on an industry and a particular career path that interests you, and you’ll experience it with our business is personal approach to career coaching and development. That one-on-one connection you’ll have with your career coach and your Executive Connections mentor will help you ask the right questions about prospective employers and careers, and also about yourself. And whether it’s your career coach, the faculty, your admissions representatives, or the student support team, you’ll always receive the personal attention you deserve, to help you succeed in the classroom and beyond.

Thank you for taking the time to learn more about the W. P. Carey Full-time MBA and our unique culture. I’m sure you’re going to love it here.

Sincerely,

Amy J. Hillman

A place like no other.

Ten minutes from the excitement of Scottsdale, 20 minutes from downtown Phoenix, and just two hours from skiing — there’s more to being a W. P. Carey student than just going to class.
A global exchange of ideas.

W. P. Carey MBA students share unique perspectives and bring a combination of cultures, ideas, and professional experiences into the classroom. For students like Paula Frignani, that meant bringing more than a decade of banking and consulting experience in her native Brazil into group projects and discussions, where she learned from students and faculty with equally diverse backgrounds.

The No. 1 destination for international students

According to the Institute of International Education, ASU is the No. 1 destination for international students among public institutions. Within the W. P. Carey School, our alumni come from more than 160 countries — from Afghanistan to Zimbabwe.

A unique feature of the W. P. Carey MBA for our international students is the Global Education Center, providing English language, academic, cultural, and social support services.

Women at W. P. Carey

The W. P. Carey School is pioneering change for women in business. Led by Dean Amy Hillman, women at W. P. Carey inspire in the classroom, innovate in their fields, and invigorate our community.

The W. P. Carey School is honored to sponsor Forté Foundation — a nonprofit consortium of major corporations and top business schools working together to launch women into fulfilling, significant careers through access to business education, career opportunities, and a community of successful women. Attending a Forté sponsor school means you’ll always have the resources, support, and connections you need — as well as the recognition and empowerment you deserve.
